

CYBERNETICA

Fujisoft

(Yokohama City, Japan)

Fujisoft built an UXP-based information linkage platform that provides businesses with an environment in which confidential care information, including personal information, can be accessed. The platform will be used for the coordination of nursing care information between government agencies and private businesses.

UXP will help to improve public services, such as nursing care and community comprehensive care through the streamlined and confidential flow of medical data.

